SUCUMBS TO THE INEVITABLE.

Mrs. Ann Jones, Beloved Wife of Dr. J. T. Jones, Peacefully Crossed to the Other Side.

FUNERAL AND BURIAL PLEASANT HILL.

Last Monday morning, December 23, 1918, death invaded the home of Dr. J. T. Jones, who lives on the Stanford pike, one and a quarter miles from Columbia, and removed his devoted wife. The demise of this good woman was not wholly unexpected, as she had been seriously afflicted for three or four weeks. She was at first attacked with the flu which developed into pneumonia, death following.

The deceased was sixty-five years old last June, and was a daughter of Jesse and Susan Murrell. She was reared within one mile of where she died. Besides her immediate family she is survived by two brothers, Simeon and Alfred Murrell, and one sister, Mrs. Maggie McCormack, of Bowling Green.

The deceased was a consecrated Christian and had been from her early girlhood, a loving and devoted companion, and an affectionate mother. Her husband, who is also afflicted and on the shady side of life, and her devoted children have lost their best friend, but if they follow the teachings of their Master, after awhile there will be a reunion, and then they will be made to understand what is so hard to bear now. A good wife and a loving mother is a priceless jewel, and only those who have experienced a like separation know how to sympathize with the sorrowing husband and children, brothers and sister.

Besides the husband, the deceased is survived by the following children:

Mrs. J. C. Clayton, Montpelier; Mrs. A. O. Taylor, Columbia; Mrs. J. A. Williams, near Columbia; Dr. R. A. Jones, Cincinnati; Dr. Almon Jones and Chesley Jones, Liberal, Kansas, and Mr. Alfred Jones, who is at present located at Camp Taylor, and a number of grand children.

This community feels the tenderest sympathy for all those who have been so sorely bereft.

The funeral discourse was preached by the deceased's life long friend, Eld. F. J. Barger, who was assisted by Eld. Z. T. Williams Tuesday afternoon at Pleasant Hill Church, and the interment was in the church cemetery.

Both ministers paid high tribute to the life and character of the departed, she having been a faithful member of the Christian Church for many years.

The Monument.

The letter from Mr. Coy E. Dudgeon of Lebanon, appearing in this issue of the News is one of the many similar tenders of liberal and hearty support of our suggested plan proposing an early monument to be erected a fitting memorial to our heroes of the late war. Such a monument as is proposed would show to the parents whose sons fell upon the foreign field that they were not forgotten by the people of Adair county. Furthermore, a gigantic shaft appropriately inscribed, erected at a suitable place, near the public square, in Columbia, would be an act that is due the heroic dead, and would mark Adair with the other generous and heartfelt counties of the State. Let others follow Mr. Dudgeon's example.

Important Notice.

I have sold my stock of goods and I want to collect every dollar due me. Therefore, I ask those who are owing me to call and make payment at once. I do not want to put any person to the necessity of paying cost. 9-2t To F. Patteson.

Anyone wishing to buy I will sell the whole farm also stock of goods. A. G. Coffey, Montpelier, Ky.

William A. Pike, of Dulworth this county is among the list of wounded in France.

Christmas Accidents.

The afternoon before Christmas, Aaron McMahan, son of Mr. Geo. McMahan, thirteen years old, and a seven year old son, went out to cut a Christmas tree. They found one, and while the McMahan boy was chopping on the tree, the smaller boy came round it, and received a lick on his head, just above the ear, making an ugly, but not dangerous wound. The older boy carried the little fellow to a branch, washed and closed up the wound, then the two went to their home and told of the accident. The Kimble boys are getting well and the two boys are the best of friends.

ARM BADLY SHOT.

In the Little Cake precinct, Earl Watson and a son of Eli Grant were out rabbit hunting and the Watson boy was between a rabbit and Grant. Grant aimed at the rabbit, but the gun went off too quick and Watson received the load in one of his arms, badly shattering the limb. Dr. R. Y. Hindman was called and dressed the wound.

My family and myself are well and feeling fine. I have closed a very satisfactory year to myself as Sheriff of this county, and I don't hear any fuss from the people.

Say, J. E., how is every thing going with you? Give us the best paper you can the coming year and we'll be satisfied.

Somewhere in France.

Dear Father and Mother:—
I am well and hope this will find you all the same. I received your letter today. It came in twenty days. I get your letters regularly and I am always glad to hear from you. I am having a very good time. Plenty to eat and all the money I need. I don't so bad over here. We don't drill so hard and it is warm and dry.

I hope you hear from me. I write three or four times a week. I don't have much chance to write and hard to get paper. Things are not plentiful here like it is in the States.

I guess you all wonder what I am doing. I am wagner with the one pound canon. I like it fine. I have been to the range. If we get to go to the front we will play havoc with the Boche. Everything is looking good at present. I hope how soon I can come home, for I have been gone so long I don't feel like I have any home but the time will come some time for me to come home. Tell the children hello for me. Well, it is getting late, I will close for this time. Hoping you get my letter, I remain as always.

Our Boys.

From the balmy breeze of South-land

To the cold and frozen North,
From Atlanta to Pacific
Have our noble sons gone forth.
They have crossed the dark Atlantic

And the submarines defied
And have proved themselves great heroes
As they changed the battle's tide.

They first blocked the road to Paris

When they met the fiendish Hun,
And old Hindenburg, the demon,
They then put upon the run;
And so then they kept him running

Till they pushed him to the wall,
And it was their gallant fighting
That caused Prussianism's fall.

From victory to victory
Did our gallant soldiers go
And there's not a Hun Commander

Who will say they traveled slow.
From the time they commenced training

They have all been doing fine
And its now our gallant "dough boys"

who are watching one the Rhine.
Now their noble task is over
And no longer need they roam,
So our great and gallant heroes
Soon will be returning home.
And they should be highly honored

For they've made the whole world free,

They have driven despotism
From the land and from the sea.
R. L. Campbell.

From North Carolina.

Editor News:—

As I have been busy preparing to teach and about as busy teaching, you will pardon my neglect of my correspondence. I try to farm, on some land that is so hilly that wheat has to be sown with a double barrel shotgun; and too poor for a man to raise his voice on it; and am a poor farmer, anyway. As a result, it takes what I make teaching school to pay for fertilizer and flour and I don't have many clothes. Neither do I revel in such vain pomp and glory as buzzwagons, setter dogs, diamonds and other frivolities.

At present, I am principal of Casar High School; where I reigned last year. For these services, a stipend is paid me of $55 a month, and the treasury is raided every month. For my board, I pay $12 a month, current money with the merchant, and I am in pleasant quarters. My landladies are two well to do widows, who have an elegant, comfortable home and both are culinary artists of a high order. To this cooking I pay a very high compliment; and I suspect it makes my hosts wring their hands and tear their tresses. One is a venerable widow, while the other is also wearing the desolate weeds of bereavement, but is a sprightly lady, attractive lady of 24. They can tribute their misfortune and my good fortune to war conditions. We are in the shadow of South Mountains, where the motto has prevailed so long that the memory of man runneth not back to the contrary, that corn must be raised to make whiskey and the residue converted into bread. When war was declared, some of these mountaineers followed the example of Roostervelt and Billy Sunday, and decided to take it out in fulminating against Kaiser, calling the same patriotism. But the authorities had delegated that calling to dough-faced lawyers, "Skypilots," bankers, cotton mill magnates, etc., and the band played, "Johnny get your gun." But as mountaineers are always free, the call was not heeded by many and a dozen became draft-dodgers, deserters, and makers of contraband whiskey. This commodity is a present help to prevent and cure all the ailments human flesh is heir to, and is a specific for the ravages of "flu." Hence festivities hereabout were a reminder of a witches' sabbath, and the desolate widows yearned for a man of strength size and valor; and as my weight, when stripped for the ring, is 200, I was selected as defender and custodian. I am not valiant; but have features that would stop a clock, or turn milk sour. I assured my landladies that at the first approach of danger that I would seek the tall and uncut timber; but they said my features would terrorize the most dauntless moonshiner; and I was installed. Our armament consists of a pair of twice-barrelled shot guns, in the use of which the widows are adept, one lingering eternity of a muzzle loader and my contribution is a navy six, Colts 45. So far, we have not been molested by moonshiners and deserters; but our repose has been often disturbed by buzzwagons coming from bone-dry Shelby, Polkville, King's Mountain, and elsewhere, bent on an errand to get standard proof but un-taxpaid specific for "Flu," smallpox, typhoid, and a sovereign remedy for snake bite. Shelby and King's Mountain have snakes that bite when the sable mantle of winter envelopes the earth; and also when it is clad in vernal beauty. I drink no whiskey, and don't rant about prohibition. I am no war evangel; but three of my boys volunteered, and I proffered my services at 60, and have worked like Satan beating tanbark to "keep the home fires burning." One of my sons received two severe wounds in artillery practice, and underwent two, yes, three hospital operations. One may be dead or wounded in France; for he was in last desperate fighting and I can only hope for his safety. Yet, some loudmouthed cuss who blasphemes the kaiser at long range, and swore lies to keep his sons out of the war is classed as an arch patriot; while I am a cringing and unmitigated "slacker." Does this illuminate my friend, Harmon? For the sincere and consecrated messenger of glad tidings I cherish profound respect; but for the arrogant, loud-mouthed coward who goes not nor sends not,—I condemn him to the lowest hell. No man is a good citizen nor a true American who does not heed his country's call as the voice of God; but to perdition with the T. R., and B. S., type of patriots. The place to prove patriotism is where rifles rattle, cannons roar and bayonets gleam. If a man is too old to face the music, too feeble, or has other good reasons for his detention at home let him keep his mouth shut, work and produce something; or help finance the war. I honor every woman who did such heroic Red Cross work, every man who worked hard to produce food, every one who contributed to Liberty Loan, W. S. S., and Red Cross donations; but cherish a withering contempt for all the big-mouthed boasters who lay around home and abused Germany. Nobody is prouder than I that our forces were triumphant and I hail Woodrow Wilson as one of the immortals. Let me say to some men who bleated about being too old to go, that Foch is 66, Perishing is 58, Hindenberg is 73; and they have wives. Why should being married work such havoc with patriotism? If our liberties and institutions were in such jeopardy, if the lives of children and the honor of women were menaced; it is a poor, cowardly devil who will not try to resist the invader. When the welcome tidings of peace were proclaimed; I lost no time celebrating. That was a festivity and a saturnalia for slackers, draft-dodgers and he women. The men near me who had sons in the war rang no bells, tooted no horns and fired no artillery; but those whose sons had weak eyes, "roomatiz," or had to "snort granny," were joyous as if they had caused the walls of Jericho to tumble.

I was really glad to locate Bro. Harmon, and remember him with pleasure. But it was Alfred Dohoney that he heard sneeze at C. H. S. Those were my halcyon days, but I knew it not. I walked four miles to attend the M. & F. High School; and wore brogans and jeans, Prince Albert; but it was a season of budding hope. Most of my schoolmates, like myself, are in distant lands; others have gone to shores eternal; but all are enshrined in fadeless memory. Soon, in my case, the grasshopper will become a burden, those that look out of the windows shall be darkened, the strong men shall bow themselves and the keepers of the house shall tremble; and I shall ever bewail the fact that I have done so little. But with an undying love for "The old Kentucky Home," I shall yet try to feel for that consecrated clime the fervid zeal the Psalmist expressed when, by the waters of imperial Babylon, he renewed his allegiance to Jerusalem.

THE CHANGE.

I know a lady in this here town Who would pass John by with her high-brown frown; In company with him she would not go For a private's clothes are quite coarse you know. But today she stopped on the street in awe, She was struck quite dumb by the sight she saw; For John came by in his officer trays Displaying two bars on his shoulder straps. She now looked downcast for she felt so mean, Her face from the soldier she tried to screen. She realized now that the time was brief Till he'd change those bars for a golden leaf; And the leaf then change to eagles of gold. And O how she wished his to hold; But she felt that for her he had sounded taps. When she saw those bars on his shoulder straps. When those bars on his shoulder straps she saw She realized how she'd treated him raw; She realized too that he'd felt the sting Of her up-turned nose,—th haughty thing;

But now she would kneel at his feet in dust If this would bring back his love and trust. But the love which disdains the private's traps Is too base for the bars on one's shoulder straps. So in his trying days, or dire distress We should never Judge a man by his dress; And if his high esteem you would not lose Don't turn up your nose at a private's shoes. Because he's a private we should not rap, His hat is easily swapped for a cap; And the boy who is spurned for the other chaps May display gold stars on his shoulder straps.

RED CROSS FUTURE IS LINKED WITH ROLL CALL

Davison, War Council Head, Outlines Tasks That Lie Ahead

Next week's Red Cross Christmas Roll Call for members is characterized as "the foundation of the Red Cross" by Chairman H. P. Davison of the Red Cross War Council in his statement describing the future of the Red Cross.

"Wherever our soldiers and sailors may be, the Red Cross will stay with them until they are demobilized. Nothing which we may do will be left undone, either for the men in the war zone, their families at home, to whom will continue to be devoted the ministrations of the Red Cross Home Service," promises Mr. Davison.

Volunteer Aid Needed.

"The wake of the war will, however, reveal the prevalence of disease, and give rise to emergencies which in all parts of the world will call for unlimited voluntary effort.

"Here will be the opportunity for the American Red Cross. But even our Red Cross must not act and cannot act most effectively alone; we must labor in co-operation with the national Red Cross and relief societies of other nations, to the end that not alone the heart of America but the heart of all mankind may be mobilized on behalf of suffering humanity."

Mr. Davison declares the American Red Cross to be planning "to develop its permanent organization" in this country on a scale never before contemplated in time of peace."

Home Work to Grow.

"Study," he says, "is being given by the national organization not alone to problems of international relief, but to plans in this country for enlarged home service, promotion of public health education, development of nursing, care and prevention of accidents and other co-related lines which may contribute to the health and happiness of men, women and children.

"The work of supplementing governmental activities, which the Red Cross will be called upon to do in all parts of the world, will be upon a great scale, but it will call for human service rather than for large expenditures. "What the Red Cross needs now is not so much contributions of money, as the continued devotion and loyalty of its members.

Join and Serve!

"Annual membership involves the payment of only one dollar.

"The money thus received not only defrays all the administrative expenses of the organization, but leaves a substantial balance, which, together with all funds subscribed directly for relief, are solely devoted to that purpose.

"The Roll Call of the nation is thus to be called at Christmas time, that through enrollment in the Red Cross the American people may send a message to our soldiers still overseas and to the peoples of the world that we are not merely content with seeing our arms united with our allies in victory, but that our abiding purpose is that the love, the sympathy and the intelligence of all America shall be rededicated to the permanent service of mankind."

EXILED BELGIAN TOTS SEND GREETINGS TO U. S. CHILDREN

Washington.—"Fraternal and cordial greetings" have been sent America's school children by 600 Belgian girls and boys now returning from exile at Havre.

A giant scroll bearing some 620 names thanks American children for the aid their country has sent Belgium through the war years.

"Long live the allies! Long live Belgium! Long live the United States of America! Honor to the American Red Cross and to its Commission for Belgium!"

"The Belgian scholars, boys and girls, in exile in the Havre region, appreciate with a deep emotion the value and the reality of the high services rendered by the American Red Cross to the Belgian population, driven out of their dear country, and refugees in a foreign land.

"They have themselves felt its constant and generous solicitude, always ready where there is a good to do, a misery to relieve, a misfortune to comfort.

"They also send their grateful and most affectionate remembrance to the kind children of America, whose fathers and big brothers have crossed the big ocean either for the American Red Cross or in the gallant, powerful and glorious American army to share in the triumph and the right of civilization, to help the Belgians reconstruct their homes, and—to save their country.

"Fraternal and cordial greetings to our little comrades, the American scholars."

The Red Cross Ready for Peace

THE following message has been telegraphed by the War Council of the American Red Cross to each one of the 3,857 chapters:

"On February 10th, last year, nearly six weeks before the United States declared war, National Red Cross Headquarters advised its chapters to prepare for war. That which has followed in the record of the Red Cross in helping to win this war and to relieve the suffering growing out of it, constitutes something of which every American citizen has a right to be proud. Every American Red Cross worker must feel a sense of gratitude in having had a share in it all.

"The moment is now come to prepare for peace. Until peace is really here and our soldiers home there can be no relaxation in any Red Cross effort incident to active hostilities.

"But even with peace, let no one suppose that the work of the Red Cross is finished. Millions of American boys are still under arms. Thousands of them are sick and wounded. Owing to the shortage in shipping, it may take a year or more to bring our boys home from France. But whatever the time, our protecting arms must be about them and their families over the whole period which must elapse before the normal life of peace can be resumed.

"Our soldiers and sailors are enlisted until the Commander-in-Chief tells them there is no more work for them to do in the war. Let every Red Cross member and worker—and this means both men and women—show our returning soldiers and sailors that to care for their health, welfare and happiness we are enlisted for no less period than they are.

"The cessation of war will reveal a picture of misery such as the world has never seen before, especially in the many countries which cannot help themselves. The American people will expect the Red Cross to continue to act as their agent in repairing broken spirits and broken bodies. Peace terms and peace conditions will determine how we may best minister to the vast stricken areas which have been harrowed by war, and for this great act of mercy the heart and spirit of the American people must continue to be mobilized through the American Red Cross.

"On behalf of the War Council, we accordingly ask each member of our splendid body of workers throughout the land to bear in mind the solemn obligation which rests upon each one to 'carry on.' We cannot abate one instant in our efforts or in our spirits. There will be abundance of work to do, and specific advices will be given, but even at the moment of peace let no Red Cross worker falter.

"Our spirits must now call us to show that not the roar of cannon or the blood of our own alone directs our activities, but that a great people will continue to respond greatly and freely to its obligations and opportunity to serve."

CANTEENS SERVING U. S. TROOPS IN ITALY

The American Red Cross canteens, which serve at railroad stations, important points on highroads, and in towns and villages throughout the Italian zone of war, are now serving American troops. These canteens have been operating during the past six months for the benefit of the Italian army and its allies, greeting the soldiers in their passage from one point to another with coffee and American crackers and jam. But it is only recently that the khaki-clad fighters from across the sea have been added to the number of those served at the Red Cross rest stations.

Numerous bowling greens have been established by the American Red Cross in the tuberculosis barracks of Paris.

HELP BRAVE BELGIANS DRIVE OUT ENEMY

American Red Cross Aids With Supplies and Comforts in the Equipment of Valiant Army.

IT is particularly interesting to Americans to know the tremendous work which the American Red Cross has done toward relieving distress in Belgium. Among the many things done for King Albert's gallant little army by the Red Cross the following are a few:

It established a dining room and reading and writing room at the warehouses in Le Havre.

It gave a plate and a bowl to 6,000 munition workers in — to use at their meals.

It fitted up recreation rooms for workers at munition plants.

It installed a co-operative restaurant for the military personnel of the Maritime Agency at Le Havre.

It installed shower baths and a barber shop for the army garrisons in Le Havre.

In army training centers the Red Cross gave household comforts, phonographs, games, etc.

It established a dormitory for 200 men at the Home for Permissionaires at Calais.

It established a canteen and library at Calais.

It established another canteen for the personnel of sanitary trains.

It gave material and games for a canteen for the personnel of the naval base at —.

It gave the same for a canteen for the personnel of Belgian seaplane units.

BOYS AWAIT BULLETIN FOR NEWS FROM HOME

American soldiers in camps and hospitals in Great Britain are now able to keep in touch with affairs at home through the medium of a daily bulletin service which has been established by the American Red Cross.

Army officers say the service fills a long-felt want, providing the men with sporting and home news they cannot find in the English newspapers.

The arrival of the bulletin is now one of the big daily events. In this connection a Red Cross worker in England sends the following message to National Headquarters in Washington:

"After talking with the boys about the daily news service I have been told to notify you that if the bulletin is discontinued you will be court-martialed and shot."

It equipped a mess for the personnel of the unit at Calais.

It gave tents, canteens, reading rooms and shower baths for the personnel of the Bourbourg bakery.

It organized dining rooms for searchlight companies and artillery batteries having fixed cantonments, and installed shower baths in them.

It distributed 60,000 enameled plates and cups for soldiers in the trenches.

It gave prizes for organized athletic tournaments.

It sent presents to each man decorated for bravery. These presents are usually razors, pipes, fountain pens and such. Up to now this work has only applied to the infantry.

The Red Cross provided the apparatus and films for cinema shows. Eight thousand soldiers see them every day.

It supplied books for all soldiers.

It installed a recreation and writing room at the large canteen at La Panne.

It presented to every infantry and cavalry regimental surgeon a medical traveling case, holding a set of medical instruments for field service.

This work required an appropriation of approximately 1,250,000 francs. Straight from the front is this comment of a Belgian colonel. It was made recently while he was sitting in his dugout talking of the work of a canteen for which the American Red Cross had just provided quarters on very short notice.

"One live demonstration like this is better than a year of talk."

American Red Cross has erected a barracks at Dijon, France, to serve as a day nursery for the children of the French women who work in the United States Army camouflage factory.

FOR SALE—A new up-to-date Kitchen Cabinet. A real bargain.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING FOR SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

Fight in the Ranks of the Red Cross Against Pain, Disease and Death.

They have known very well the risks they were taking—the two thousand and more women who have gone to France for varied services under the American Red Cross, and the more than nine thousand nurses whom the American Red Cross has assigned to foreign duty under the United States Army and Navy Nurse Corps.

They went under orders, as soldiers do; prepared for any emergencies, as soldiers do; they assumed many strange and unforeseen tasks, as soldiers do. Literally, they went as fighters, against pain, disease and death.

A "mobile surgical unit" of nurses—those words don't mean very much, perhaps, the first time we hear them. But see such an unit follow an army up to an advanced post; see how the nurses work with steady hands beside the surgeons as the stretchers with the newly wounded are brought in. See thousands of them in evacuation hospitals, base hospitals, convalescent hospitals, tuberculosis hospitals; some of them in French military hospitals where sometimes our men are sent; see them with their specialized skill in head surgery, or fracture work, or psychiatry—all these women who keep head and hand cool and steady, when the ambulances unload great harvests of wounded. Then we say the words "Our Nurses," as we say "Our Soldiers," "Our Sailors," "Our Marines."

On the night of March 25th, when the Germans were fast advancing, and already within six kilometers of Annel, an outpost of Compiègne, two American doctors remained, who under order of the French government, had sent the patients and personnel of their hospital farther back the night before. The artillery was deafening, but the American Ambulance sections kept bringing their wounded to Annel. These doctors said that as long as the American boys brought them wounded they would operate. Two nurses volunteered from Compiègne, and so in the deserted chateau the two surgeons, the two nurses and the ten drivers worked calmly on, while the buzz of aeroplanes shook the air, and the blasting guns shook the earth.

Through three takings of Belgrade, first when the city was taken by the Austrians, again when it was retaken by the Serbians, and still again when it was taken back by the Germans and Austrians together, an American Red Cross nurse, Mary Gladwin, worked in the operating room. In that first capture, when nine thousand wounded crowded the wards and halls and yard of the thousand-bed-hospital and doctor and nurse worked together for day and night without stopping, giving to each operation an average of six minutes, and employing emergencies inspired by the desperate need of the moment, they did not know that the city had been taken until all the stretchers brought Austrian wounded, and Austrian doctors came to their relief.

Several hundred women are working over there in the American Red Cross canteens. There are about two hundred of these canteens along the French and American lines of communication, and the women are working under great pressure, feeding thousands of soldiers. The Red Cross is also establishing canteens by military request at a number of Aviation Camps. American women conduct these stations, comprising canteen and club and reading room. Everyone of these canteens has something of the genius of home about it; and it is because of this, no less than the facilities for cleanliness and rest and refreshment, that the French government has given the responsibility for maintaining canteens for both armies to the hands of the American Red Cross.

In large numbers women are going abroad as hospital hut workers, also, and as social workers for trained service among the refugees and the repatriated. At each base hospital the Red Cross is equipping, as fast as they can be built, recreation huts for convalescent soldiers.

Clerical workers have steadily increased in number for the administrative offices. From that original group of eighteen, which as the first American Red Cross Commission to France sailed about June 1st, 1917, the organization has grown to a working force of more than 5,000 men and women.

In Less Than Five Months Hog Island, World's Largest Shipyard, Was Half Completed

A year or so ago Hog Island was a dismal morass of mud, stagnant water and tangled weeds. Not many months ago it was a national scandal. Today, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, it is the world's greatest shipyard. Labeled a "phantasmagoria of patriotic pretense" in the halls of Congress, it became in the poisoned public mind, a national cancer fed by greed and corruption. Thus did German propaganda, their tools and puppets, for a time hinder the growth of one of the most powerful engines of the Hun's U-boats.

In wartime, a day or an hour may shape a nation's destiny. The builders at Hog Island have realized this. Speed has been the watchword. But a world crisis could have produced in a few short months a shipyard with a capacity one-fourth as great as the combined capacity of all the shipyards in Great Britain—until now the foremost shipbuilding nation of the world.

From the moment the first shovel of earth was excavated, September 22, 1917, until the present time, work has progressed in almost magical manner. In blinding snowstorms and in the teeth of zero winds, men thawed frozen ground with live steam and drove tens of thousands of wooden and concrete piles. They laid a maze of railway tracks, built piers, erected a forest of towers, constructed massive shops and supply depots, and in less than five months had the world's largest shipyard half completed and the keel of the first ship laid!

Hog Island has training schools where unskilled men and boys are given intensive instruction and in a few days or weeks made valuable workmen. It has its own hospitals, its recreation fields and buildings. It operates restaurants that serve thousands of meals daily without profit. It has an armed guard of 600 men and a large, well-trained fire department. It goes in for welfare work. In short, it is a complete city within an unemployed man within its confines.

Merchantmen aggregating 8,000,000 tons are now flying the American flag. Think, then, what it means for the Hog Island shipyard to turn out between now and the close of 1919, ships totaling approximately 1,500,000 tons.

JUST SMILES

Economy.
"Paper is getting scarcer," claimed Doctor Dumkopf.
"Have you any suggestions?" inquired the Berlin official.
"Yes. In making agreements we should write our agreements with a slate pencil. We could clean off the slate as much as we like without wastefulness."

Encouragement.
"How did your war garden turn out?"
"Fine," answered Mr. Crosslock. "I raised enough weeds to prove that the soil was simply wonderful for something else if I could make it grow."

He Can't Be Reached.
"What do they mean by poetic justice?"
"There's no such thing. You can't try a poet for writing what he calls poetry."

The Logical Place.
"When the waiter at the club was arrested as a spy, where did they take him to question him?"
"They took him to the grill room."

The Very Best.
The client was somewhat disgruntled and the lawyer demanded wherefore.
"That bond you got me. I had to pay the man $25."

"Well?"
"Now I hear you can get a new ten go on your bond for ten."
"You wanted a good bond, didn't you? One that would hold?"
"I guess so."
"And that's what I got you."

In the Courts.
Defendant—I acknowledge, your honor, I punched this man in a moment of indignation.
Plaintiff—I wouldn't have minded that if he hadn't also punched me in the face.

Naturally.
"From the way that man talks of the best way of controlling a woman, I suppose he browbeats his own wife."
"Oh, no, he doesn't."
"Then how does he manage her?"
"He isn't married."

A Joker to the Last.
Warden—What did the prisoner say when you told him he would be hanged at midnight?
Chaplain—He said he didn't mind, only he didn't like to sit up so late.

AMERICANS FIGHT GERMS IN ITALY

Tuberculosis Experts Sent by Red Cross Will Use Latest Methods.

Included in the unit of medical and lay workers which the American Red Cross has sent to Italy are a number of the leading anti-tuberculosis workers of the country, sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association. Dr. William Charles White, who heads the unit, is medical director of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Robert H. Bishop, the assistant director, is secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Cleveland as well as health commissioner of that city. Dr. John H. Lowman of Cleveland, a former president of the National Association, is another prominent member of the unit. Others are Dr. Robert G. Patterson, secretary of the Ohio Tuberculosis Association; Seymour H. Stone, until recently secretary of the Massachusetts Anti-Tuberculosis League; Dr. Gertrude Sturgis, secretary of the New York City Association of Tuberculosis Clinics, and N. A. Nelson, superintendent of the Cincinnati Anti-Tuberculosis League.

These men and women, at the request of the Italian government, will co-operate with that country in applying the latest approved American methods for combating the spread of tuberculosis. Some of them will be charged with the establishment of clinics where people of all ages may be examined and treated; others will devote their attention particularly to preventing tuberculosis among children, and a third group will develop health publicity and education.

It is to the credit of the anti-tuberculosis campaign in America that it has produced specialists of such international standing that Italy wishes to call them into her service temporarily. But the campaign will be continued unrelentingly here at home. Its support during the ensuing year will be derived not as heretofore from the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seats, but by a special appropriation made by the Red Cross to the National Tuberculosis Association. Tuberculosis workers on their side will line up with the Red Cross in its Christmas Roll Call for universal membership.

CONTEST FOR THE JUNIORS.

A special feature during the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call will be a Junior Red Cross Four-Minute Men Contest on "Why You Should Join the Red Cross." The contest will be similar to those previously conducted by the Division of Four Minute Men of the Committee on Public Information. It will be held on Friday, December 20th, in all of the School Auxiliaries, and friends and parents of the pupils will be urged to attend.

"I got down so weak, could hardly walk... just staggered around. ... I read of Cardui, and after taking one bottle, or before taking quite all, I felt much better. I took 3 or 4 bottles at that time, and was able to do my work. I take it in the spring when run-down. I had no appetite, and I commenced eating. It is the best tonic I ever saw." Try Cardui.

The announcement of Dr. H.
H. Cherry, President of the Western State Normal School at Bowling Green as an aspirant to the Democratic gubernatorial nomination brings in to the arena
the second definitely announced candidate. Dr. Cherry's address to the people of Kentucky is strong, definite, and expressive of aggressive policies along the lines of most needed reforms in the state.

CHAMP CLARK.

It is preposterous to consider Champ Clark as a possible candidate for President. It was a streak of good luck and divine favor to the country that he,
tho with a majority of the delegates for him, failed to receive the nomination when Mr. Bryan handed it to Woodrow Wilson.
He never was and is not yet modern presidential timber.
More than this, his record for statesmanship during the terms of the present administration stamps him, not as a great altruistic statesman, and leader,
but a revengeful and sulking
weakling.

JEALOUS CRITICS.

The President's reception by the English people and their democratic King is unparalleled in history for its world wide significance. Not only in London but in Paris the complete accord of allied sentiment with the Wilson ideas and principles of peace should silence such cavilling critics as Roosevelt, Knox, and Lodge—We expect nothing more than carping criticism from the man who once told the Kaiser that his army could whip the world, if he were its commander, but the country looks for more sane and sage advice than has been coming from Lodge and Knox.

OPEN THE SCHOOLS.

Our health authorities and doctors deserve high credit and com-endation for the splendid and successful fight that they have made in this community in combating the Flu. It is remarkable that here in Columbia and vicinity, there have been so few fatalities out of so many cases, and many very serious ones. For this we are to be congratulated.

The greatest and most irreparable loss that the community has sustained has been the long vacation of our schools. The News does not question the wisdom of what the health authorities have done in keeping the schools closed for a reasonable length of time, while the disease existed in numerous and dangerous cases, and there were reasonable grounds for fear of contagion.

Our health board has acted with wisdom, but it is to be hoped, for the sake of the welfare of our children, that no lingering fear of a few scattering and isolated cases of Influenza that are always prevalent at this time of the year, will prevent the opening of our schools next Monday.

We are not suggesting contrary to the judgment of the scientific authorities who know better than we do, but if there are a few cases of Flu, and we are informed that the community is practically free from the disease, these cases could be kept under quarantine and out of school, while the great majority be allowed to receive the benefits to which they are entitled, and for which the taxpayers are making liberal provision. We hope that it will be the judgment of the Health Board to allow the schools to open.

Rugby.

Some of the farmers here are through stripping tobacco and have taken it to market, but have received poor prices. As dark tobacco mostly goes to Europe, it will be some time before shipping will open up so it can go over and people over there are short on change, prices later on are liable to be better for the dark grades.

Mrs. Flora Rosson is still confined to her room on account of heart trouble.

Alvin Fudge, who has been in the artillery branch of the army was given an honorable discharge.
He was located at West Point.
We welcome him back home again.

Mr. Joda Caylor and family, of Illinois, are visiting here this week. They like Illinois fine and will return there in a few days.

Miss Cytha Pickett, of Pyrus, visited at the home of your scribes last week.

Mrs. Harriett Rosson visited at Mr. John Moran's, near Columbia, last Tuesday, who is in very feeble health from a complication of diseases.

We wish Mr. Hamlett and family and the entire News force a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

A Letter From France.

Dear Mother:—

Your letter of Oct. 24, just received, was glad to know you were all well and getting along so well. I am well and getting along just fine and am in a real nice town now, Tannerre is the name. I left St. Aignon on the 6th, of Sept. and joined the first Army Corps at Soissons on the Toul front and was there during the big drive at St. Mihiel and left there on the 18, and came to Verdun front and was there when the Armistice was signed.

France is sure a happy place
now. I suppose the people all went wild on receiving the news over there, did they?

Well mother I have seen some wonderful things which I hope to tell you later as I can't take up much room in writing.

We are having real nice weather here for the time of the year.
We are planning for a big Turkey Dinner on Thanksgiving, and expecting a real nice time.

I am sure you enjoyed the time
Elias and his wife were with you and does Elias expect to return to his ship? It was too bad that he did not get to cross over with it.

I don't have the least idea when I will get to cross the Atlantic again, sometime next year I suppose.

Tell everybody hello for me and let me hear from you all again soon. Your loving son,

Pvt. Garland Dunbar,
Hq. Troops, 1st Army Corps,
American Expeditionary Forces,
A. P. O. 759, France.

From France.

The following letter, written by Velmer Aaron, dated Nov. 21, was received by his sister, this place:

Glad to drop a few more lines
as I know it has been some time since you heard from me.

I wrote you a Christmas card
as soon as I got to the Field Hospital, telling you why I had not written. Hope you got it.

I staid in the field hospital two days before I was shipped out,
and I am now in Base hospital,
No. 77, in Southern France. I am getting along pretty well, but my throat and lungs are in bad shape.

I told you I had influenza, a trouble that effects the throat and lungs. I am building up fast, but was feeling pretty tough when I reached the hospital. I lost nearly twenty pounds
the month I was out on the front.
My appetite is fine and I eat all that I can find, so I will soon be strong again.

I will not be in condition to get back to my Company for a good long while, if I get back at all.
My Company is following up the retreating Germans, and I don't think I will be sent back while the Co. is up there.

Well, of course, all the boys are more than glad the fight is over, and I know you are all as glad as we are.

If I am still blessed with health and have the Lord's protection, as I have had in France, it will not be many months before I will meet you all again. Don't know of course just when.

All of the boys have ceased to talk about going over the top, and how close a big shell hit to them, and are talking of what they intend doing when they get home.

We having nice, sun shiny weather now, but cold winds.
Have not had any snow yet.

Well, I am a little home sick

now, since I see a pretty good chance of getting back before long. But while the fight was on I did not think much of what I would do when I got back.

"Uncle" Billy Vaughan, as he is familiarly called, met with a stroke of paralysis at his home, in Russell Springs, Thursday of last week. The report that came here stated that he was in a serious condition. He is eighty four years old, and one of the best known men in Russell county, one that will be greatly missed should this affliction carry him across the river of Death. He is a man who commands the respect of every one who knows him.

Parker Garnett and Jim Buck Holaday, two colored boys, were arrested in Columbia last Monday and lodged in jail for forging and passing checks. They got off one check at Jones' store, in White City, and when they attempted to cash one at the First National Bank, the cashier, Mr. Hughes, called an officer and they were arrested.

Lieutenant O. P. Miller, who is at Fort Ordlethorpe, Ga., has been promoted from First Lieutenant to Captaincy. Proficiency brought about the promotion. Capt. Miller is a son of Dr. S. P. Miller, of this place, and he has grown in military favor from the time he entered the service.

Prof. T. A. Judd has been elected Superintendent of city schools a Jellico, Tenn., and left for that city today. Prof. Jude was until recently in the Officers Training School at Camp Taylor, Ky., and was mustered out of service after the Armistice.

At the sale of the personal property of J. W. Walker, last Saturday week, a fair crowd was in attendance. A cow brought $67.50 and a heifer $24.50; hogs from $22.50 to $25.50 per head. All his household goods sold to a good advantage.

Miss Alma McFarland left Monday for the home of Mr. W. L. Farris where she will teach music in the family and also the common school branches. She is very competent.

S. M. Burdette bought 15 mules in Marion county last week. Among them are some nice matched teams greys, bays blacks, extra good ones. Cost from $125 to $200.

HINTS FOR THE POULTRY GROWERThe laying hens must be kept busy and exercise is absolutely necessary and one way to provide this exercise is to have a litter on the poultry house floor. Poultry are organisms of a very active nature and require a great deal of exercise.The best way to supply this exercise to fowls that are in rather restricted quarters is to feed whole or cracked grains in a litter of straw, leaves or other similar material, from which they can get it only by working for it.This litter of whatever nature it is must be renewed from time to time as it will soon become fouled with the droppings and the litter will become so heavy by this filth and dust that it will be difficult for the fowls to work it over readily.Straw containing large amounts of chaff is good; it contains more or less weed seeds and sometimes a little wheat. It is wonderful to see how the fowls will work this over time after time.It is a good plan to hang up a few sheaves of oats or wheat in the poultry house and allow the hens to thresh this out. They will work very hardand long to get the last grain of wheat or oats.Some farmers have the erroneous idea that because a hen can get by on a ration of corn alone that she ought to lay a few eggs.Words of Wise Men.It is only those who are des-

Dear mother:

This is the letter I have been wanting to write you for a long time. The war is over now and I guess I will be coming home soon. I am all right getting along fine. I told you before that I was wounded again, but not very bad either time. This last time I got a small piece of shell in the right leg and the left hand. I am in a convalescent camp now, expecting to be sent back to my company.

Every body seems to be happy and enjoying them selves around here. The French and Americans too have plenty of music. I have't received my mail yet but may be I'll be coming home soon. I hope you are all well and getting along fine. I will close for this time, give my best regards to all.

Your loving son,
Cohen Royse.

Call for Universal Membership.

Last Christmas 22,000,000 men and women and 8,000,000 children answered the call of the Red Cross and became members of the world's greatest humanity cause. Those who experienced the sweet satisfaction of doing that much to help the work will gladly renew their memberships and all others will join when they realize the duty and privilege to do so. The war is over but there remains work of the greatest magnitude for the Red Cross to do, and a campaign is on to secure universal membership. It only costs $1 to join. Enlist for the supreme service by answering the Christmas call.

Camp Meade Md.

Dear Editor:

As news from the boys in camp seem to be coming in rather slow, will try and write a few lines.

At present I am quartered in tents with about a score of boys in my company. Have been taken away from our company because of a couple of cases of measles breaking out in our section of the barracks. We enjoy the outing immensely, but of course the others have lots of "gab" to hand at us, call us the "Development Battalion" the "Boneyard Brigade" etc.

I noticed in the News that A. Judd has been discharged and is now at home. "Congratulations" Thomas, wish I could have a streak of good luck like ye. Of course tho, our time is coming sooner or later. Camp Meade is continually being taken by rumors of the 11th Div. being mustered out very soon. It may be, but they must show me.

Went over to Washington last Saturday, and must say that my tour through the Capitol was one of interest. The Statuary Hall with the likeness of one or more great men from nearly every state in the Union standing there. And I am sorry to say that Kentucky has none there. Why should not Henry Clay's statue be there?

From there I passed into the room occupied by the representatives, on through the long hall and into the Resident's room from the ceiling of which hangs a chandelier said to be the finest in the U.S. Then we passed into the Marble Hall, on into the Senate chamber, up a flight of stars and looked over into the room of the Supreme court.

Now in leaving the capitol and looked through the Library, which I dare say is somewhat larger than the one in Supt. Loy's office ha ha.

On to the monument five hundred and fifty-five feet high, and before I had climbed to the top of it, I began to think it was something like a mile.

With a short journey through the botanical garden, a glance at the White House, the Treasury Dept., and a few other places such as Foeds Theater, where Lincoln was assassinated, The Patent Office and a nice "Dairy lunch stand" my pass was up and I was forced to return to return to camp imagining everything else.

EASING THE CARES
OF SOLDIERS' FAMILIES

The ten thousand Home Service Sections of the American Red Cross, in their work of looking after the families of the enlisted men, are doing wonders for the morale of the army. Our fighters are not men who are going to worry about themselves, but if they do not get cheerful letters from home, or if anything goes wrong there, they are going to worry, and that delicate thing the army men call morale is going to be disturbed. It is to safeguard against this and also to prevent needless suffering and to promote that spirit of neighborliness and kindly aid that binds each community into an organic whole that the Home Service was organized.

Over 50,000 workers are serving on these ten thousand committees, which reach into every corner of the country, however remote. Not a town or village or crossroads that is not within reach of the Red Cross; not a wife or child or mother of a man in service who cannot claim the ready aid of the Red Cross workers.

More than 300,000 families of American soldiers and sailors have been relieved of money troubles, legal difficulties and worries of all sorts by the protecting arm of the Red Cross. If the allowances of allotments under the War Risk Insurance law do not come the matter is at once referred to Red Cross Headquarters, taken up with the proper government bureau and promptly straightened out. If, through the delay, the family finds itself in need of money sums are advanced to tide it over until the allotment arrives. During July over sixty thousand inquiries of this kind were received, and more than a third of these were taken clear through to headquarters before they could be straightened out.

FOR ITALY'S BABIES.

Motherhood in Italy just now is not the joy that it might be, for the poor women are at their wits ends to clothe the children already in the family, not to mention the preparation for the little newcomers. Perhaps the most appreciated gifts of the American Red Cross at this time are the layettes which are being given to the mothers of Italy. Each layette consists of twenty-four pieces and includes four brightly colored swathing bands, so dear to the heart of the Italian woman. Twenty layettes a week are needed at Chicago alone.

Increase in All Respiratory Diseases After the Influenza Epidemic Probable.

Influenza Expected to Lurk for Months. How to Guard Against Pneumonia. Common Colds Highly Catching—Importance of Suitable Clothing—Could Save 100,000 Lives.

Washington, D. C.—With the subsidence of the epidemic of influenza the attention of health officers is directed to pneumonia, bronchitis and other diseases of the respiratory system which regularly cause a large number of deaths, especially during the winter season. According to Rupert Blue, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, these diseases will be especially prevalent this winter unless the people are particularly careful to obey health instructions.

"The present epidemic," said Surgeon General Blue, "has taught by bitter experience how readily a condition beginning apparently as a slight cold may go on to pneumonia and death. Although the worst of the epidemic is over, there will continue to be a large number of scattered cases, many of them mild and unrecognized, which will be danger spots to be guarded against." The Surgeon General likened the present situation to that after a great fire, saying, "No fire chief who understands his business stops playing the hose on the charred debris as soon as the flames and visible fire have disappeared. On the contrary, he continues the water for hours and even days, for he knows that there is danger of the fire rekindling from smoldering embers."

"Then you fear another outbreak of influenza?" he was asked. "Not necessarily another large epidemic," said the Surgeon General, "but unless the people learn to realize the seriousness of the danger they will be compelled to pay a heavy death toll from pneumonia and other respiratory diseases."

Common Colds Highly Catching.

"It is encouraging to observe that people are beginning to learn that ordinary coughs and colds are highly catching and are spread from person to person by means of droplets of germ laden mucus. Such droplets are sprayed into the air when careless or ignorant people cough or sneeze without covering their mouth and nose. It is also good to know that people have learned something about the value of fresh air. In summer, when people are largely out of doors, the respiratory diseases (coughs, colds, pneumonia, etc.) are infrequent; in the fall, as people begin to remain indoors, the respiratory diseases increase; in the winter, when people are prone to stay in badly ventilated, overheated rooms, the respiratory diseases become very prevalent."

Suitable Clothing Important.

"Still another factor in the production of colds, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases is carelessness or ignorance of the people regarding suitable clothing during the seasons when the weather suddenly changes, sitting in warm rooms too heavily dressed or, what is even more common, especially among women, dressing so lightly that windows are kept closed in order to be comfortably warm. This is a very injurious practice."

Could Save 100,000 Lives.

"I believe we could easily save one hundred thousand lives annually in the United States if all the people would adopt the system of fresh air living followed, for example, in tuberculosis sanatoria. There is nothing mysterious about it—no specific medicine, no vaccine. The important thing is right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Droplet Infection Explained in Pictures.

"The Bureau of Public Health, Treasury Department, has just issued a striking poster drawn by Berryman, the well-known Washington cartoonist. The poster exemplifies the modern method of health education. A few years ago, under similar circumstances, the health authorities would have issued an official dry but scientifically accurate bulletin teaching the role of droplet infection in the spread of respiratory diseases. The only ones who would have understood the bulletin would have been those who already knew all about the subject. The man in the street, the plain citizen and the many millions who toil for their living would have had no time and no desire to wade through the technical phraseology."

COLDS, INFLUENZA, PNEUMONIA, AND TUBERCULOSIS ARE SPREAD THIS WAY

Copies of this poster can be obtained free of charge by writing to the Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

HUNGER DRAWS THE MAP

A food map of Europe today shows not a single country in which the future does not hold threat of serious difficulties and only a small part which is not rapidly approaching the famine point. With the exception of the Ukraine only those countries which have maintained marine commerce have sufficient food supplies to meet actual needs until next harvest, and even in the Ukraine, with stores accumulated on the farms, there is famine in the large centers of population.

Belgium and northern France, as well as Serbia, appear on the hunger map distinct from the rest of Europe because they stand in a different relation from the other nations to the people of the United States. America has for four years maintained the small war rations of Belgium and northern France and is already making special efforts to care for their increased after-the-war needs, which, with those of Serbia, must be included in this plan, are urgent in the extreme and must have immediate relief.

The gratitude of the Belgian nation for the help America has extended to her during the war constitutes the strongest appeal for us to continue our work there. The moment the German armies withdrew from her soil and she was established once more in her own seat of government the little nation's first thought was to express her gratitude to the Commission for Relief in Belgium for preserving the lives of millions of her citizens.

Germany, on the other hand, need not figure in such a map for Americans because there is no present indication that we shall be called on at all to take thought for the food needs of Germany. Germany probably can care for her own food problem if she is given access to shipping and is enabled to distribute food to the cities with dense populations, which are the trouble centers.

England, France, the Netherlands and Portugal, all of which have been maintained from American supplies, have sufficient food to meet immediate needs, but their future presents serious difficulties. The same is true of Spain and the northern neutral countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark—whose ports have been open and who have been able to draw to some degree upon foreign supplies.

Most of Russia is already in the throes of famine, and 40,000,000 people there are beyond the possibility of help. Before another spring thousands of them inevitably must die. This applies as well to Poland and practically throughout the Baltic regions, with conditions most serious in Finland.

Bohemia, Serbia, Roumania and Montenegro have already reached the famine point and are suffering a heavy toll of death. The Armenian population is falling each week as hunger takes its toll, and in Greece, Albania and Roumania so serious are the food shortages that famine is near. Although starvation is not yet imminent, Italy, Switzerland, Bulgaria and Turkey are in the throes of serious stringencies.

In order to fulfill America's pledge in world relief we will have to export every ton of food which can be handled through our ports. This means at the very least a minimum of 20,000,000 tons compared with 6,000,000 tons pre-war exports and 11,820,000 tons exported last year, when we were bound by the ties of war to the European allies.

If we fail to lighten the black spots on the hunger map or if we allow any portions to become darker the very peace for which we fought and bled will be threatened. Revolt and anarchy inevitably follow famine. Should this happen we will see in other parts of Europe a repetition of the Russian debacle and our fight for world peace will have been in vain.

Washington, D. C.—(Special).—According to a report made to the United States Public Health Service, the epidemic of influenza in Spain has already caused an increase in the prevalence and deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. A similar association between influenza and tuberculosis was recently made by Sir Arthur Newsholme, the chief medical officer of the English public health service, in his analysis of the tuberculosis death rate in England.

In order that the people of the United States may profit by the experience of other countries Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States Public Health Service has just issued a warning emphasizing the need of special precautions at the present time. "Experience seems to indicate," says the Surgeon General, "that persons whose resistance has been weakened by an attack of influenza are peculiarly susceptible to tuberculosis. With millions of its people recently affected with influenza this country now offers conditions favoring the spread of tuberculosis."

One Million Consumptives in the United States.

"Then you consider this a serious menace?" was asked. "In my opinion it is, though I hasten to add it is distinctly one against which the people can guard. So far as one can estimate there are at present about one million cases of tuberculosis in the United States. There is unfortunately no complete census available to show exactly the number of tuberculosis persons in each state despite the fact that most of the states have made the disease reportable. In New York city, where reporting has been in force for many years, over 35,000 cases of tuberculosis are registered with the Department of Health. Those familiar with the situation believe that the addition of unrecognized and unreported cases would make the number nearer 50,000. The very careful health survey conducted during the past two years in Framingham, Mass., revealed 200 cases of tuberculosis in a population of approximately 15,000. If these proportions hold true for the United States as a whole they would indicate that about one in every hundred persons is tuberculous. Each of these constitutes a source of danger to be guarded against."

What to Do.

In his statement to the public Surgeon General Blue points out how those who have had influenza should protect themselves against tuberculosis. "All who have recovered from influenza," says the Surgeon General, "should have their lungs carefully examined by a competent physician. In fact, it is desirable to have several examinations made a month apart. Such examinations cannot be made through the clothing nor can they be carried out in two or three minutes. If the lungs are found to be free from tuberculosis every effort should be made to keep them so. This can be done by right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Danger Signs.

The Surgeon General warned especially against certain danger signs, such as "decline" and "colds which hang on."

These, he explained, were often the beginning of tuberculosis. "If you do not get well promptly, if your cold seems to hang on or your health and strength decline, remember that these are often the early signs of tuberculosis. Place yourself at once under the care of a competent physician. Tuberculosis is curable in the early stages."

Patent Medicines Dangerous in Tuberculosis.

"Above all do not trust in the misleading statements of unscrupulous patent medicine makers. There is no specific medicine for the cure of tuberculosis. The money spent on such medicines is thrown away; it should be spent instead for good food and decent living."
